The effect of Yume head bath

Yume head bath brings many benefits to your client including:

● It transforms your client's mood and disposition

When you start with Yume head bath, your client's senses are stimulated as water is gently poured along the outline of their face. As their head is immersed in warm water, new sensations of relaxation are experienced; acting almost like a switch to promote immediate calm.

● To remove sebum and dirt

Gently wash the scalp by immersing the entire head in warm water.

Only oxidized sebum is gently removed while normal sebum, which is the source of natural scalp moisture, is retained.

Before shampooing

Normal sebum (in fluorescent orange) and oxidized sebum (in fluorescent milky white) adheres to the scalp

After shampooing

Normal sebum (in fluorescent orange) remains, but oxidized sebum (in fluorescent milky white) has been completely removed.

Oxidized sebum is observed in the image on the left (before), and the identical part is shown in the image on the right (after HB), which indicates that the oxidized sebum has been completely removed.

Cautions

Please confirm the showerhead for your wash unit.

The YUME HEADBATH can only be attached to the dual function (switchable) showerhead. Alternatively, please purchase only the head piece of a dual function showerhead and replace it.

Please confirm the hot water supply condition of your wash unit.

① A stable hot water supply of at least 8.6 L/min is required for the water to form a consistent cascade. If the volume of hot water is insufficient, the way the hot water runs along the face and the relaxing murmuring sound will change, which prevents Yume head bath from achieving its ultimate performance. Please confirm the volume of hot water from your wash unit in advance.

② If the temperature of the hot water changes during Yume head bath, the client will feel this change. Sudden changes in the temperature will result in a failure to provide a comfortable experience and this could lead to potential injury, such as burns. Please be sure to confirm that the hot water remains at a stable temperature in advance. In addition, the practitioner must ALWAYS stay with the unit and the customer during Yume head bath.

To avoid issues after the purchase, please be sure to understand and confirm the above-listed precautions before purchasing the product. Please contact your local Takara Belmont dealer or Takara Belmont directly for details and questions.
